ACO solutions for hotels

The Globetrotter Lodge in Ascheffel, Germany offers modern comfort in a natural environment. The hotel building, as well as the 23-meter observation tower feature natural wood lamella facades, teak surfaces, nature motifs on the walls, hardwood floors and floor-to-ceiling windows in front of the generous wooden terrace. ACO supported the architect to ensure the drainage of surfaces, considering the special requirements of the project. Based on detailed hydraulic calculations, the size and structure of the catchment areas and the expected rainfall intensity - the complete drainage layout was designed. In addition to the facade drainage, the system solution was completed with bathroom drainage, lightshafts and shoescapers.
